Happy Propose Day! Celebrated on February 8th, this special day is part of Valentine's Week, dedicated to expressing love and commitment. This Propose Day, let’s take inspiration from space science—a love that requires understanding before judgment. Just as love should be without harm, remember that God still protects our tiny Earth and the cosmos. There’s a love promise from God to everyone, a gentle promise letting love rhythm with God's cosmos and human experience across space and time, like Orion. Whether it's a grand romantic gesture or a simple yet sincere proposal, the essence of Propose Day lies in the courage to share one's true feelings. From exchanging heartfelt words to offering a ring or a meaningful gift, the day is a celebration of love's potential to blossom into a lifelong journey together. So, if you're planning to propose, let your heart lead the way and make it a moment to cherish forever.

A Silent Vow Beneath the Stars as the Cosmos Dances:

To care for myself,
To grow with honesty,
To live gently with others and the earth,
all while playing sustainability as much as I go green with it.

- Gravity (The Mother): Like a mother holding a child's hand so they don't get lost, Gravity holds the Moon to the Earth and the Earth to the Sun. This is the "Hold Promise."
- Stars (The Father/Provider): Stars work hard deep inside (Nuclear Fusion) to cook up light and heat. This is the "Energy Promise."
- Space (The House): Space provides the room for the dance to happen. It is not "nothing"; it is the fabric of the building.
- The Tamil Connection: "Andathil Ullathe Pindam"
- There is a famous Tamil Siddhar saying: "Andathil ullathe Pindam, Pindathil ullathe Andam."
- Translation: What is in the Universe (Macro) is also in the Body (Micro/Nano).
- Science Fact: The iron in your blood and the calcium in your bones were actually "cooked" inside a star billions of years ago. When a star dies, its "Space Propose" is to give its body to create yours. We are literally made of stardust.
